It was the mother's wish that her son should be taken to Regina for burial, and willing hands on Tuesday morning carried the remains across the river and placed them on the train. The grief-stricken parent returned to Regina on the same train.

THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE.

THE Canadian Magazine for April is very well and copiously illustrated, and in variety and general interest meets the expectations of those who are acquainted with the most creditable and entertaining of all the literary enterprises inaugurated in Canada. The most remarkable article in the number is that by Hon. David Mills, entitled "Saxon or Slav, England or Russia?" in which the writer deals extensively with the persistent policy of Russia, fears that that power may win the supremacy of the world and induce retrogression in freedom, trade, and civilization, and urges the co-operation of all parts of the British Empire and of the United States, in maintaining the supremacy of the British race. J. Castell Hopkins explains the object and history of the boys' brigade, a new moral, religious, semi-military movement which meets with the approbation of ecclesiastics, both Protestant and Roman Catholic. Prof. Tadmor, a leading man of the Dominion, but under concealed identity, describes "Waiting for the Mail at a Canadian village Post Office." Other contributions are "The Mysterious Spotley," by Bernard McEvoy; "Old Ben," by V. C. McElie; "One of the Few," by Kay Livingstone; "The Lost Colony of Roanoke," by E. Y. Wilson. "A Glimpse of Robert Barr," by C. Stan Allen. There are also a number of excellent humorous anecdotes and several poems. The Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing Co., (Ltd.), Toronto, $2.50 per annum. Single copies 25 cents.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, APRIL 11th, 1895.

C. P. R. FINANCES.

The annual meeting of the Canada Pacific Railway Company was held in Montreal on April 3rd. The report read by the president showed a very great falling off in the business of the company during the past year. The cause as far as Canada is concerned is ascribed to the excessively low prices for farm products prevailing during the past two years. But it seems that the great loss suffered by the company on its past year's business is in the first place the falling off of the United States business of its Canadian lines, but more particularly the losses in the operation of its branches in the United States, the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie and the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railways. Advances were made to the Duluth Company of $602,000 and to the "Soo" road $1,161,090, for interest and other purposes. When people are bitten it is just as well that they should know how they were bitten and by whom. And when by reason of loss in operation C. P. R. dividends shrink to nothing, C. P. R. shares tumble to a very low figure, Canadian employees of the C. P. R. are discharged by the thousand, Canadian rates are kept at the highest possible notch and railway extension in the Canadian Northwest is declared to be an impossibility, it is just that the public should clearly understand that the loss has not been on the Canadian business, and particularly not on the Northwest business of the company, of which latter the president says it affords higher rates than any other. These higher rates are one great cause of the condition of affairs of which he complains regarding that traffic, namely that empty cars have to be hauled west to be loaded with grain and cattle, because there is not sufficient merchandise coming west to load them. If the company did not insist on such high rates for the outgoing grain and cattle during this era of low prices, western people would be better able to purchase eastern merchandise than at present and the cars would not need to be hauled westward empty. But this exactly sets forth the company's style of doing business in the Northwest. Charge the last cent that the traffic will bear, or that in their minds it ought to be able to bear, and then talk of the lack of money with which to purchase goods as a dispensation of providence, something beyond the power and outside the responsibility of the company which has already got the money in its pocket. There is more than mere sentiment in the policy of live and let live, especially in the case of an unquestioned and unquestionable railway monopoly. Unless the railway will let the farmer live the railway itself cannot live, as even the great Van Horne is finding out to his cost.

Bad as is the light in which the company appears in respect to its Canadian and particularly its Northwest interests, when its interests in the United States are considered the appearance is much worse. Between Sault Ste. Marie and Portage on the Northwest boundary, the company has a greater railway mileage than on its main line from Winnipeg to Vancouver and on its Northwest branches. The building of this last mentioned part of its system is the only cause for the company's existence and the only reason for its immense endowments by the Canadian people. Because of the existence of these lines the people of Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia have been reminded from day to day since 1881 of the debt of gratitude under which they lie to the beneficent company, no matter what service may be rendered or what the charges are therefor. It has been possible for the company to give as much railway mileage to the United States without assistance as it has given Canada with assistance; its United States branches give much lower rates and better service; and now, after a connection with the C.P.R. commencing seven years ago according to the president's statement, the Canadian system is saddled over and above its own losses with nearly $2,000,000 liabilities in one year in order to keep them floating. This may be business from the railway man's standpoint, but it is scarcely business from the standpoint of the Canadian taxpayer or the Northwest settler. The Canada Pacific was not subsidized by the people of Canada to give the people of the United States more railways, or cheap rates. It was subsidized to develop Western Canada and had it been properly located and properly run it would have done so. The money expended on these United States lines would have given the Saskatchewan Valley and Northern British Columbia a through route parallel with the present C. P. R.; and if the people of the Northwest had been given the rates that the people of the United States along those lines get they would be very much more prosperous than they are. If the C. P. R. could get money to build the lines in question they could have got money with which to build in the Northwest and had they built through the fertile belt of the Northwest they would have had a more profitable line than any they now own. Their whole system has been to work the Canadian taxpayer and settler for all that was in both and use the means thus acquired to build up business in the United States. No one objects to the company extending its business across the lines provided that the extension did not displace like extensions in Canada, and that Canadian business was fostered as United States business has been. But when the most fertile sections of the Northwest have as yet only been touched by the railway or have been altogether avoided on the plea of lack of resources while the resources of the company have been strained to provide railway competition for the United States, another face has been put upon the matter. Instead of the railway company managing its business to recoup the Canadian taxpayer and benefit the Canadian settler, both are bled to the utmost limit, in order that the company may aggrandize itself outside of Canada. It is time for the people of Canada and of the Northwest to demand a radical change of this policy and to require that this company which was brought into existence to benefit and develop the Northwest, shall use its resources and energies to that end and not to give the United States that railway competition which on behalf of the company Canadians have denied themselves.

ELECTION ADDRESS.

To the electors of Alberta.

GENTLEMEN.—As the nominee of the convention of Alberta liberals which was held recently at Calgary, and having been assured of a strong support by the patrons of industry in Northern Alberta, as well as at the solicitation of a large number of independent conservatives in this part of the country, I have the honor to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of Alberta in the Commons at the approaching general election. The stand which I take with the full knowledge and consent of those who have tendered their support is that of an independent as to party, but not as to principle. On the main question at present at issue between the liberal and conservative parties, I understand that the organizations and individuals tendering me their support have done so with the wish and expectation that I would and will so far as lies in my power support the policy of a tariff for revenue as against the policy of a tariff for protection, which is the declared policy of the present government; on the ground that the protective policy discriminates unjustly against the western producer in favor of the eastern manufacturer.

Although holding strongly with the liberal party and also the patron organization on this point, I have not bound myself to either of these because I believe that the first duty of the single representative of so great a country holding such great possibilities in this district of Alberta, should be to use his every energy for the further development of this country and the realization of these possibilities; as he can not if he is to be subject to restraint by the exigencies of any party. This constituency has had party representation during the past eight years,—has been represented by a member of the party in power then and now. If the results have been satisfactory, that principle should be continued. If not it should be changed. It is because I believe that this system of party representation has been gravely injurious to this district that I have consented to make the personal sacrifice involved in my candidature, and because, so far as I knew, no other person was likely to come forward to advocate these or like views.

In a region so vast and varied as Alberta it would be impossible for any man at any time to define all the points of policy that would affect each locality, therefore I do not attempt to do so here. I hope from time to time, however, in the course of the contest, to have the opportunity to discuss fully with the electors at most of the principal centres of population, all matters that may come up for discussion, in whatever shape they may appear. That such a vast region, having such a large population and such important interests should be accorded only one representative is as plain a case of injustice as is required to show the glaring failure of party representation to secure the people in even their simplest rights. The matter of railway extension and railway rates particularly in the north and the question of irrigation in the south seem to be the great questions affecting the interests of the district with which parliament will from time to time have to deal. I need not point out that while these are vital questions to Alberta, they are not party questions at all, and it is all the more necessary that your representative should be in a position to advocate your interests in regard to them in parliament without party hindrance even if he has to do it without party support.

Speaking generally I may say that I will support a policy of development for Alberta and while I will not bind myself to ask for favors for any section or interest I will bind myself to do all in my power to see that each section and every interest receives fair and equal treatment.

In conclusion I will say that although I have no personal interest to serve or ambition to gratify by entering upon this contest, yet having entered upon it in good faith I shall do all I can to win, and ask for the active assistance of every man who believes that the success of the principles which I have been selected to advocate would be in the interest of this constituency and of the country.

Respectfully Yours,
FRANK OLIVER.

Also sections 30 and 31, in township 51, range 24; sections 6 and 7, in township 52, range 24; sections 25, 26, 27, 34, 35, 36 and those portions of 28 and 33 lying east of the Saskatchewan River in Township 51, range 25; and sections 1, 2, 3, 10, 11 and 12 in township 52, range 25, all west of the fourth meridian under the corporate name of "The Rabbit Hill public school district, No. 339," of the Northwest Territories.

A badly decomposed body was found on the Yellowstone river, Montana. Papers showed it to be that of Alex. Sanderson, a rancher of Griswold, Manitoba. No money was found on the body. Last November a bloody faced stranger appeared on a ranch near where the body was found, and said he had been thrown from a train. He acted wild and attacked the rancher, but was driven off at the point of a gun. He ran and jumped into the river and disappeared. It is believed that Sanderson had been robbed and thrown from the train, and was so badly injured as to dethrone his reason.

Farmers are busy seeding.

Rev. Mr. Bowring has been holding special services in the country.

John Hoverson is remodeling his butcher shop and making it a first-class shop.

His school is being taught by Miss Cameron during the illness of Mr. Garvin.

Mr. Haley has rented A. McDougall's farm and has moved out of town on the farm.

Mr. Alexander, immigrant agent, stopped off here on Thursday last until Friday morning.

Ed. Davis left by Tuesday's train for Washington, and will return in about a fortnight with a car of stock and settlers effects.

T. C. Anderson shipped two cars of hay to the mountains by last train and Mr. J. West is loading a car of hay to-day to ship by to-morrow's train.

Frank Hamilton, livery stable keeper, was brought before J. L. McNamara, J. P., on April 5th, on a charge of cruelty to animals committed on April 3rd. A large amount of evidence was taken and it was clearly proven that the animal was a dangerous one and the case was dismissed. April 8th, '95.

LACOMBE LINKS.

Quite a number of the farmers have commenced seeding in this locality.

Dr. H. J. Richardson has purchased a lot next to Morris & Co's store and will build an office on it in a short time.

G. A. Reid our enterprising hardware merchant has just got in a number of wagons, also a lot of farm implements for sale.

A large number of settlers have arrived by train during the last week or so, with several car loads of effects, also some by wagon.

Wm. Wilson, dentist of Lunenburg, made his regular visit here the first Monday of the month, staying longer than usual on account of the amount of business.

THE PATRONS' STAND.

"Phoenix," writing from Oaklands to the Free Press, says the following resolution was adopted by the members of Oaklands' lodge.

"That in the opinion of Oaklands association, Wm. Fulton, as patron, had a perfect right to offer himself as a candidate at the last liberal convention, for the constituency of Blackwood and to use his influence in any manner agreeable to his conscience. And that the patrons should not attempt to control the votes of members of the order, as it was really never intended that it should be a political lodge, but a social organization to promote the interests and welfare of farmers and laborers.

"And also, that the best interests of the patrons to-day would be had by supporting the liberal party, which is the stronger of the two, and we think that all tariff reformers should unite, as a division of forces will be disastrous to the best interests of the country, particularly to the agricultural classes.

"We also believe the liberal platform is good enough for all patrons, and the very best policy to carry the country."

A MURDEROUS INDIAN.

An Indian on the Blackfoot reserve at Gleichen named Scraping-hides-by-night, shot and killed a young man named Frank Skinner, ration issuer on the reserve. The Indian had asked the ration issuer for a little beef to make soup for his child. It was refused him, and he repeated the request, but was again refused, when he swore that if the child died others would die too. The child died and the Indian murderer went crazy with grief over the loss, and kept his word by shooting the unfortunate ration issuer, after which over the grave of his child, he defied arrest, exchanging shots with the police. He was ultimately shot dead by a mounted policeman named Rogers. The deceased Skinner was formerly a corporal in the N. W. M. Police force, and at one time held a position in the Nelson's Bank, Toronto.

GENERAL NEWS.

J. H. Ross, M. L. A., for Moose Jaw, has been sworn in a member of the executive.

Ottawa, April 6th: Correspondents having been attacked by Tupper as liars and a disgrace to their calling for announcing his resignation, it is necessary to say that the prime minister was the authority for the statement published.

The British steamer Ethelred while on her way from Boston, Mass., to Jamaica, and when off Cape Maye, Cuba, was fired upon by a Spanish gunboat. The Ethelred stopped and was boarded and examined by officers of the gunboat, after which she proceeded on her voyage.

The jury's verdict found the Marquis of Queensbury not guilty of libel charged by Oscar Wilde, but declared that the charges against Oscar Wilde were true and made for the public good. Oscar Wilde has been arrested. All the different managers who were playing his plays, will drop the plays, or out the author's name out entirely.

The evidence given by McBeath at the trial of Parslow and Dalgleish at the Albert, looks very serious for the prisoners. He testified that Parslow said to him on one occasion: "That would be an easy lunch to get away with." Subsequently, he said, he went to Calgary and was met there by Dalgleish, who said to him the police were after them and he (McBeath) would have to get out for a while to save them. Dalgleish said they would put up the money, and did so, giving him $25 at Robson's stable in Calgary.

Times correspondent dispatch under the date of March 31st: "Military activity in Japan has not abated. Five transports of infantry and cavalry were hurried away yesterday before the armistice was proclaimed. The conditions arranged indicate the desire of China to save Peking at all costs. The Chinese are fleeing from South Formosa to the mainland, and Hong Kong. The Japanese are reported to be marching upon Takan. The Chinese army in Formosa is 80,000, of this force 50,000 are splendid troops, well armed. The remainder are raw recruits, including even many beggars. Fighting is imminent.

AN OLD TIMER GONE.

Word came in on Tuesday that James Reid, one of the early pioneers had been found dead at his home near Fort Saskatchewan. J. Brown and J. Gibbons, two whom the deceased had come to this country with, left at once for the house, where they found their old friend's remains being properly cared for by neighbors. The deceased was 73 years of age. He emigrated from Ireland to California during the gold fever days of 1850, and came through the Western States to this country in 1868. His wife has been dead for some years; a son is living, the last letter received he was in California. The burial took place on Wednesday in the cemetery at Fort Saskatchewan.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

A business meeting of the Edmonton Local Council of Women was held in the town hall on the afternoon of April 4th and was largely attended. After the routine business, several papers from the National Council were brought before the meeting having reference to the annual meeting of the National Council to be held in Toronto from May 27th to May 31st inst., inclusive. These included nomination papers for the officers of the National Council, a preliminary Agenda, a copy of proposed standing orders and a number of suggestions from Lady Aberdeen for the guidance of the Local Council. This was followed by the election of delegates to the National Council; every Local Council is entitled to send its president and five delegates to represent it and to vote on the various questions which may come before the annual meeting of the National Council. This election concluded the business of the meeting, which then adjourned with a lent prayer.

EDMONTON CREAMERY.

The Edmonton creamery is now in a prosperous condition to start the present season with. Two new skimming stations are to be built, and the farmers who profited from their cows last year are increasing their herds. Last year the milk from about 275 cows was turned in at Poplar Lake, the same district this year will have at least 400 cows milking. With skimming stations placed near the river at Edmonton, it is expected that South and East Edmonton will turn in considerable milk there. To make a skimming station pay it requires at least 250 cows in the district. The committee have been considering the advisability of building a skimming station at the number of cows from which the owners might be depended upon to turn in the milk, and if there are not a sufficient number already there, the farmers should, if they desire a station built at that point, try to increase their herds. The creamery was run less than three months last year, but in that time some of the cows returned to the farmer between $15 and $20 a head, a showing sufficient to prove that with a longer season to pay for itself in one year. Last year all the butter could have been sold at a good profitable figure, but it was held until too late, when the Australian butter came and was competing against it at the coast; therefore last year's make has now to be sold at a much less profit than could have been gained if sold earlier. Creameries have proved a success to the farmers in the east, financially and otherwise. Butter is as good a price here as in Ontario, and if the cost of keeping cows is much less, as some authorities claim, then there is every reason to suppose that a creamery must be a source of profit if managed properly here.

AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES OF CANADA.

Was the subject of a lecture delivered lately by Mr. Leary, commissioner for the Canadian government in Ireland. The lecture was given in the Royal Assembly Hall, Ottawa, which was crowded. The account he gave of the advantages to be derived through emigrating to some of the Canadian Northwest provinces would set many to think whether they are wise today at home, when by crossing the seas they would have the certainty of bettering themselves as a reward of industry and pluck. The lecturer said when a man found out, as he knew many of them already realized, that the country of his birth could not furnish him with sufficient profit on his investments, it became his duty to himself, if he wished to retain his manhood, and above all, his duty to his family, to look elsewhere. Mr. Leary described the short journey, and the comforts that the railway and steamship lines were providing for emigrants, saying that nothing deserving the name of hardship had to be endured. Mr. Leary has a pleasant style of conveying information to his hearers, and the information is valuable from the fact that he farmed himself for over twenty years in the Northwest.

Full woman suffrage in South Australia is an accomplished fact. The telegraph announces that Queen Victoria has signed the bill, and it has become a law. More than one million square miles of territory with a fertile soil and temperate climate, a country larger than all the United States east of the Mississippi River, and destined to support a population of hundreds of millions at no distant day, is committed to equal rights for women. This is the greatest single victory the cause has ever gained. New South Wales is about to join South Australia and New Zealand for woman suffrage. At Sidney, N. S. W., March 13, Premier Reid pledged the government to establish it, though it will not be possible to introduce the bill for some time.

A FIERCE FIGHT.

A dispatch received at Calcutta on April 4th from the Malakand Pass, via Simla, says that the operations of the British troops against Umra Khan, of Jandoe, the invader of Chitral, in the pass itself, were commenced by the guides, who were sent to clear the hills on the left. The Maxim rapid firing guns were placed to the front whenever they got within range of the enemy, estimated to number 12,000. The latter at first made but a feeble resistance, but when the head of the pass was reached the action became general. The Gordon Highlanders and the Scottish Borderers stormed the defences of the enemy, which was composed of Swat Mullah's and Umra Khan's supporters. The British troops advanced with spirit in spite of the fact that the roadway over the pass was cut away in many places, and that sangars or stone breastworks were constructed at various points, which had to be carried at the point of the bayonet. Fifty of the British forces were wounded, including three officers severely, and four slightly injured. Only three soldiers of the British force were killed. The enemy lost 500 killed and wounded. The first brigade is expected to reach the Swat river to night.

The financial returns of the Dominion for March, published in to-day's official Gazette, shows a decline for the month of a million dollars below March 1894, as the railway receipts for March show a heavy decline. It is evident that hard times are going to get worse before they get better. The Dominion receipts for the nine months ending 31st March, show a falling off of $3,293,000. The deficit for the current year cannot be less than four million dollars and may be five. The capital expenditure for the nine months was $3,273,000, compared with $3,852,000 in 1894.—Free Press.
